Launch of the new Geneglace website.

Geneglace has developed a new tool to better communicate with its customers: a new website. The address remains: www.geneglace.com

Its modern and up-dated configuration makes it possible to access to all information from the first page. Navigation is simple with an efficient tree structure. It has been designed in responsive design to suit all screens and browsers.

Its design, with the Geneglace own identity, takes up the colours and the graphic charter.

Documentations, documents and videos can be downloaded.

It is bilingual (French/English) but other languages can easily be integrated.

Its ranking has been optimised so that people looking for flake ice can easily find Geneglace.

This site will be updated regularly. Do not hesitate to send us any information you would like to see (press articles, news, videos, ....).
